A miserably furnished room with stained and dilapidated wall-paper, etc. On the left a bed, with only a mattress on it, stands with its head against the wall, and a big patched counterpane hanging over the foot. L.c. a shabby stained washstand, containing basin and jug with broken spout; a piece of unframed glass hangs on wall by side of it. A cheap deal table stands in centre of room with large teacup and saucer, etc. A crust of bread on plate, and a lighted lamp with smoky chimney. A large cupboard stands against wall R.C. At back a door leads to kitchen and there is a door R. opening into the street down stage. When the curtain rises, Mrs. Burtenshaw, a miserable-looking woman of forty-five, very shabbily dressed, is discovered seated at table. She squeezes a little more tea out of the teapot, empties cup and puts it down with a sigh. She rises, shakes mattress, throws counterpane over bed, puts jv straight in basin...
